

GROUNDLESS WEATHER REPORT

By PROF. HAZY FOG.

Reports from the Ivory coast off the Pearline Islands via the Gold Dust Straits of Sapolio, state that there is a large volume of dirty weather approaching the U. S., which should reach us by Monday. It is fortunate, however, it is due to arrive on washday, as it will be taken care of in the general wash, and by Wednesday the weather should be clear and dry.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

Chet—"Is the ascension of Mt. McKinley in my history?"

No, you'll find it in dispute.

Boarding House Keeper—"What is the cheapest method of feeding hogs?"

You must be more explicit. Do you refer to the two or four leg variety?

All queries must be addressed to Prof. Hazy Fog, c/o The Dippy Department of this paper.
